Petition to Bring Back the Blue Bin- Curbside Recycling in Modesto

Modesto had one of the first curbside recycling programs in the country in the early 1970s. Today Modesto sends its "waste" to the local incinerator to burn and does not sort all of the recyclable material out. The local incinerator, Covanta, makes profits off of burning 800 tons of "waste" a day, including plastics, metals, and green waste to create energy, while we inhale its pollutants. The least Modesto could do is keep our recyclable materials out of the incinerator.

We, the undersigned, are concerned citizens who urge the City of Modesto to Bring Back the Blue Bin for curbside recycling.
